BIO

Marsha Petrie Sue, MBA, CSP is the “Muhammed Ali” of personal development, leadership, communications and managing change. She can dance and look pretty and she uses the entire ring, but she knows how and when to land a knockout punch. Think of her presentations as charm school with live ammunition. She challenges every morsel of your beliefs while entertaining and enlightening.

Marsha dares people to take personal responsibility for their choices, success, and life. Marsha is original, unique, and one-of-a-kind professional speaker author. Whether dealing with employee relationships, increasing productivity or pumping up sales, her guiding principles bring energy and fun to any meeting or event. She is the best-selling author of Toxic People: Decontaminate Difficult People at Work Without Using Weapons or Duct Tape and also The Reactor Factor: How to Handle Difficult Work Situations Without Going Nuclear. She is also the author of several other resources including the award-winning book The CEO of YOU: Leading YOURSELF to Success.

The Flexibility Factor: Blessed are the Flexible for They Shall Not Be Bent Out of Shape

Flexibility is the key to managing change and leadership excellence. Improve communication skills, judgment, and attitude by focusing on perception. Outcome? Improved morale and productivity. A flexible attitude won't manage the impending change, but it will tick off enough people to make it worth the effort.

Is Your Networking Working: How to Maximize Web 2.0 and Other Networking Possibilities to Grow Your Business

Spend less time smoozing and more time closing deals by polishing you networking skills. Establish a simple way to brag on yourself using Twitter, LinkedIn, Plaxo, Facebook and more! Learn why Web 2.0 saves time and increases your business without spending a dime.

The Reactor Factor: How to Handle Difficult Work Situations Without Going Nuclear

This presentation reveals real time solutions to improve communications with clients and personnel while managing the economic and business situations in the real world. Entitlement will vanish, attitudes, productivity, and profits will improve with Marsha's no fluff tips and techniques. This is also the title of her latest book, published by John Wiley, New York.
